

BALTIMORE CITY CENSUS 2000

Coloring Book

everyone counts

Every ten years, the United States tries to count every person who lives in the nation. This count is called the census. This coloring book helps you understand why this year's count - Census 2000 - is so important to you, your family, and your neighborhood.

This coloring book was produced For Census 2000 by:

Mayor Martin O'Malley

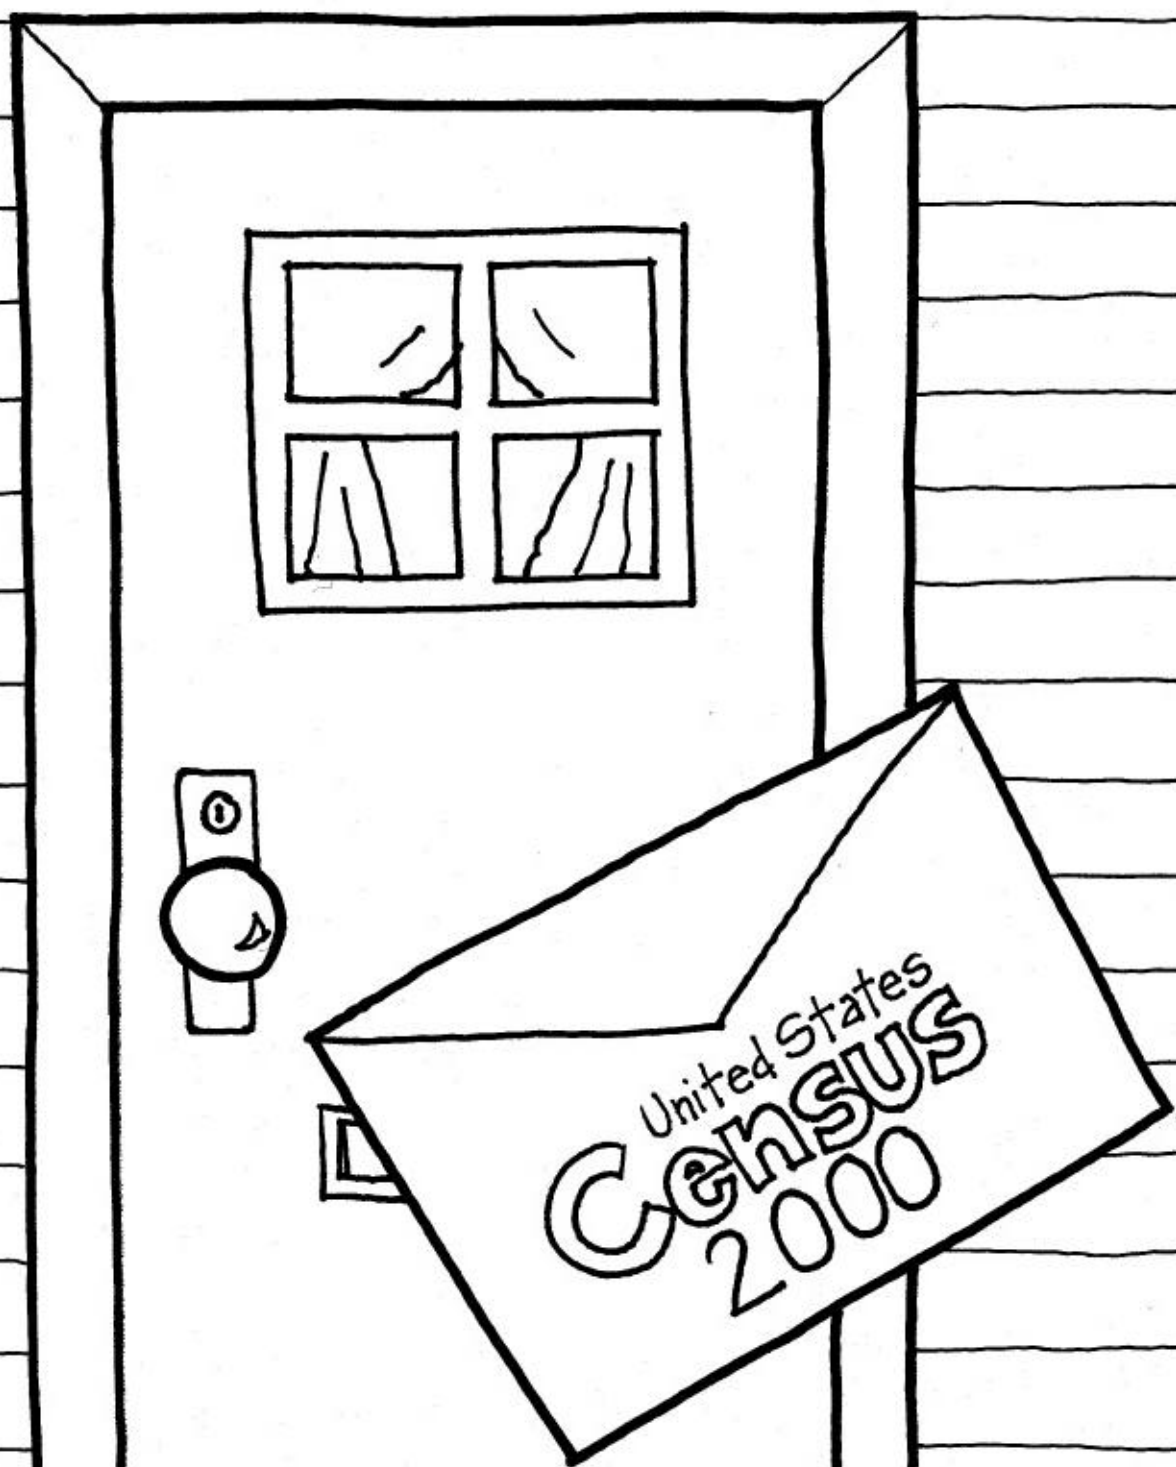

and the

Baltimore City Department of Planning
Charles C. Graves III, Director

Designed by Janet Felsten

For more information about Census 2000, call (410) 396-4343

When the Census 2000 form arrives at your door, _____

... and you see all those questions,

Mother?

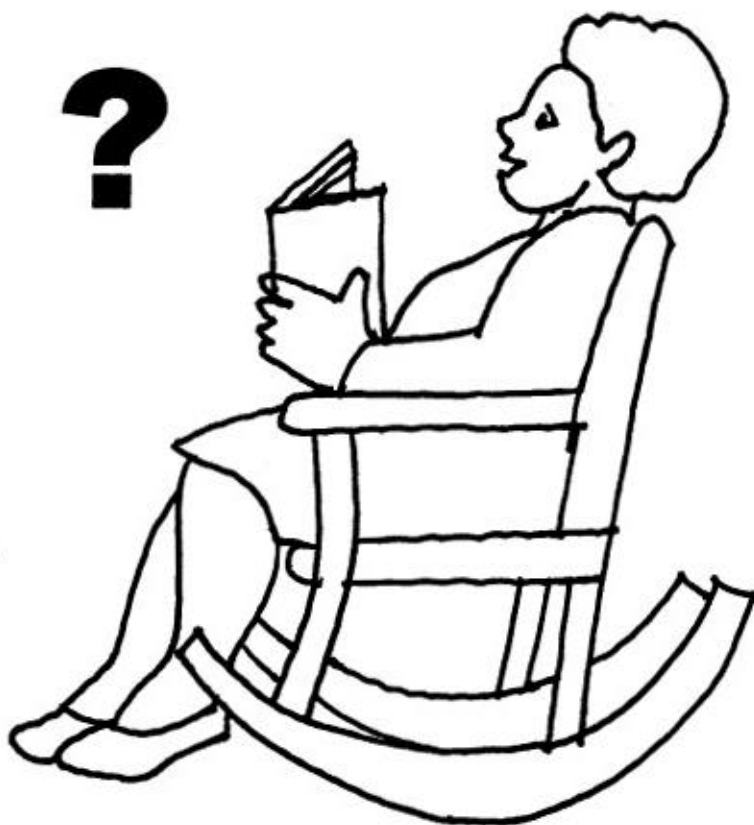

Father?

?

Brother? Sister?

Grandparents?

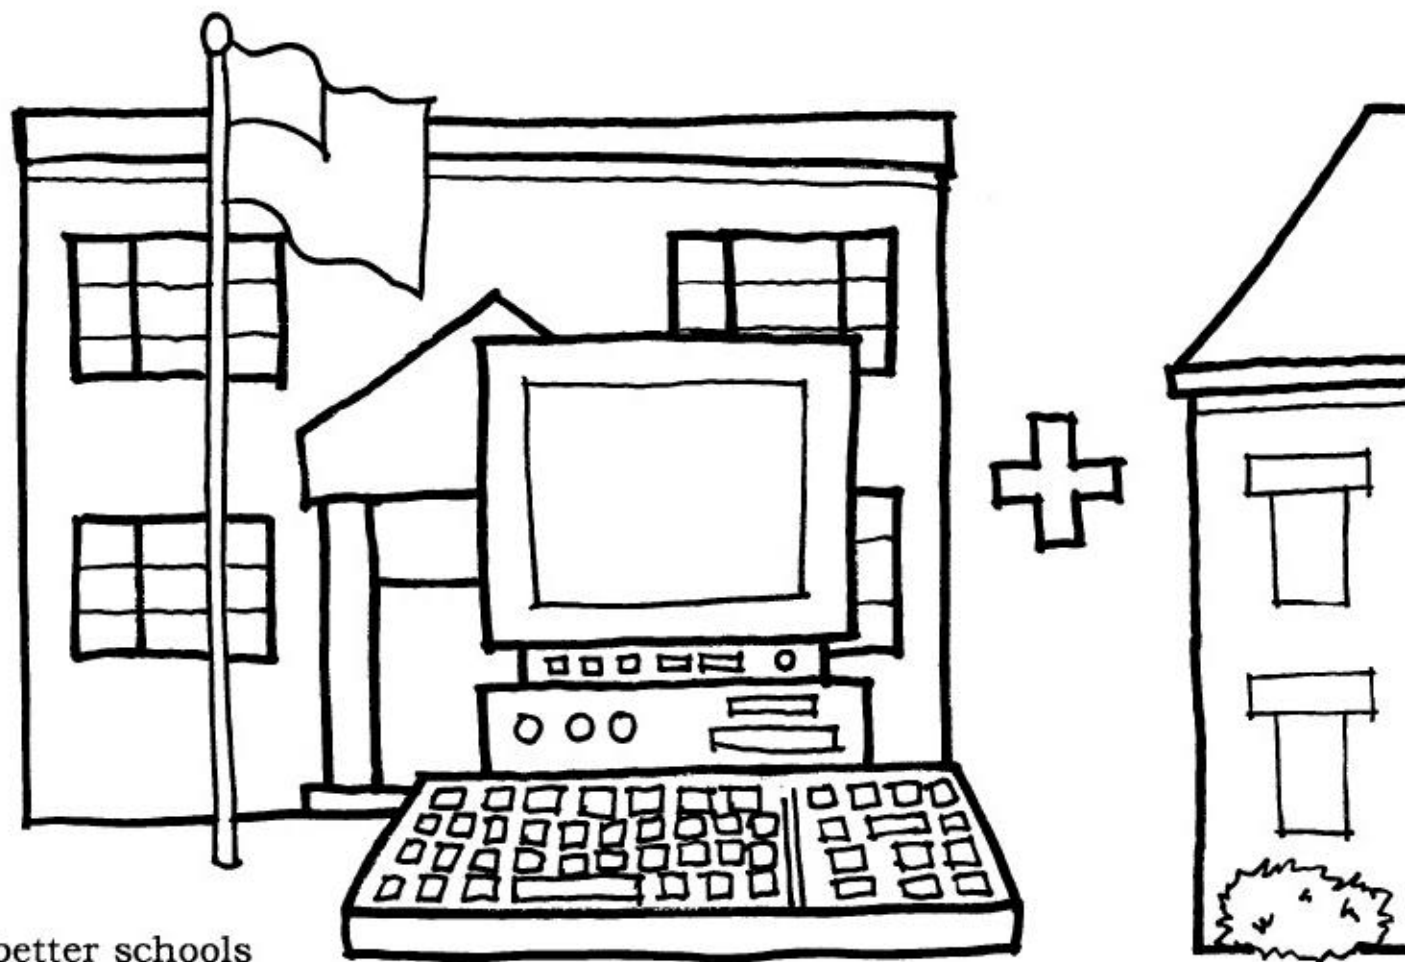

...do you wonder what it's for?

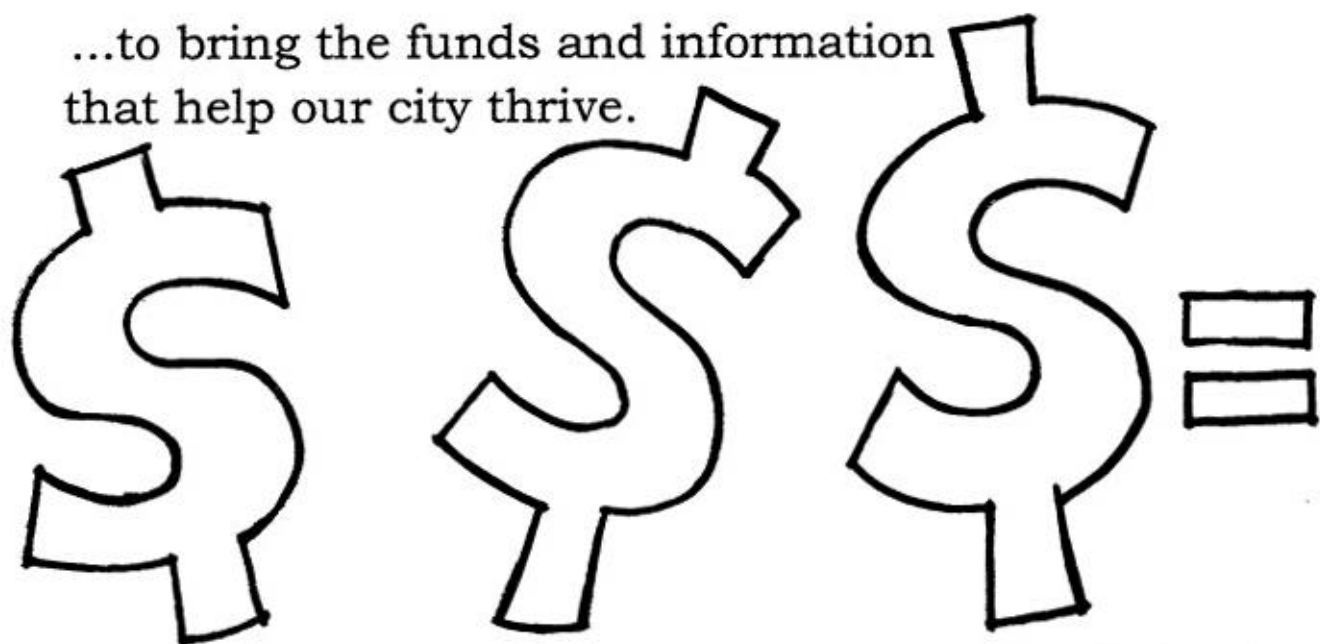

Aunts? Uncles? ... everyone who lives at your address counts!

Your answers add up;
for a FULL COUNT we strive

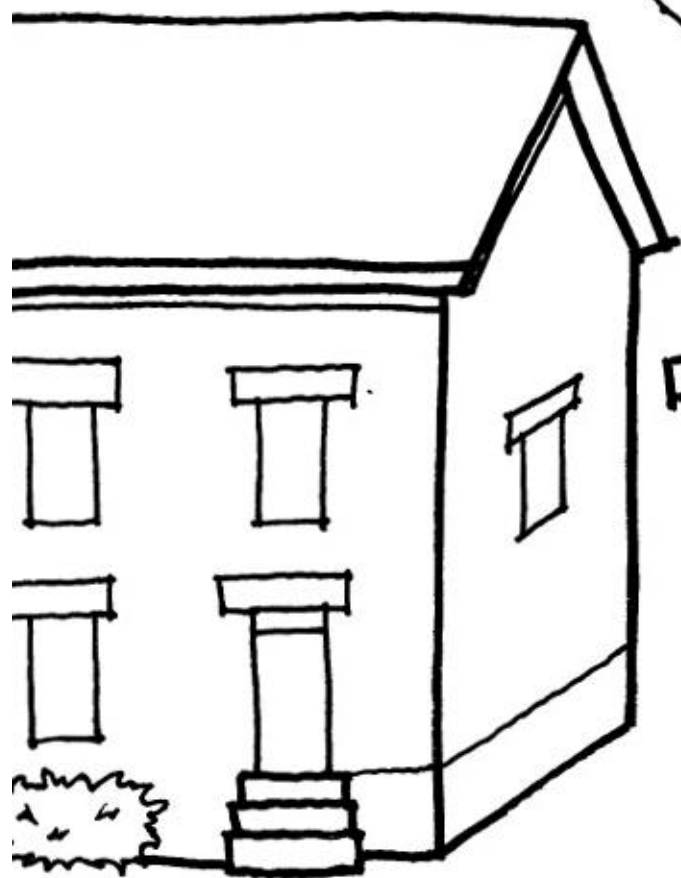

$$2 + 3 + 7 + 5 + 1 = \\ + 8 + 4 + 6 + \dots$$

...to bring the funds and information that help our city thrive.

new housing

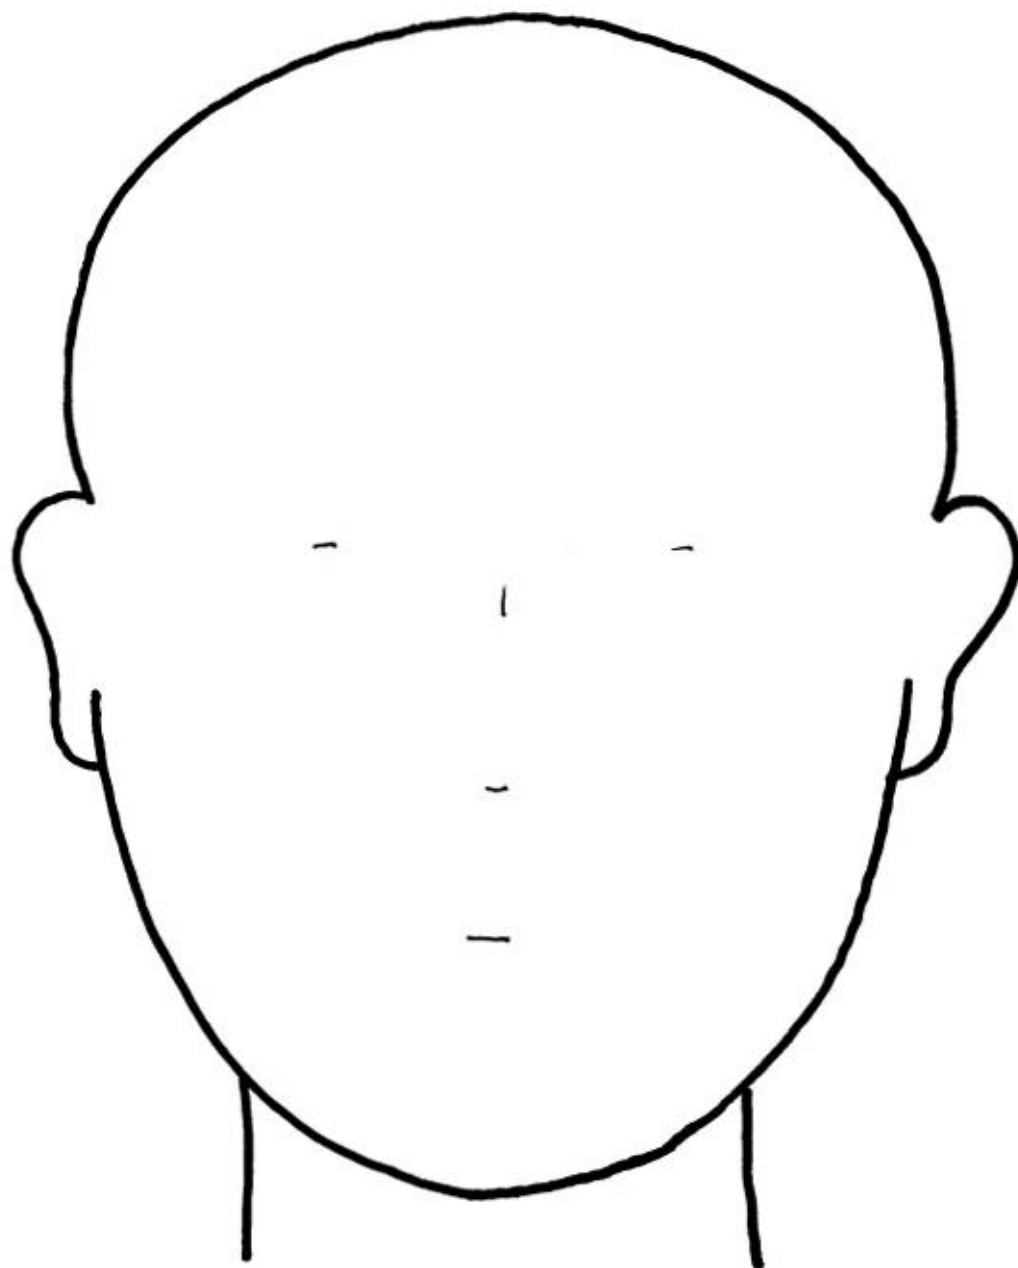

improved parks

Dear Family,
By being counted, you show me that I count!

Draw your self-portrait here.

Urge your parents and relatives to fill out the Census 2000 form and mail it in!

